TYPE OF MEDICALS THAT CAN BE DONE

Exit Medical

Description:

A medical examination conducted when the employee is leaving the specific company for any reason. The exit medical will be used at the new company.

Periodical Medical

Description:

A medical examination conducted on an annual basis.

Admin Medical

Components:

Vision test, physical examination, and if necessary, spirometry test and audiometry test.

Full Medical

Components:

Vision screening (chart), physical examination, audiometry test (hearing test), and spirometry test (lung function test).

Pre – Employment Medical

Description:

A medical examination conducted before an employee is appointed at a specific company to ensure the potential employee is fit for the occupation beforehand. Typically done before the contract is signed.

Driver Medical

Components:

Same as a full medical with additional vision screening (Titmus) and glucose test.

Initial Medical

Description:

The first medical examination done at the specific company. It must be completed within a month of the appointed date.

OUR SERVICES

Medical evaluations are conducted to assess the general health status of the workforce, ensuring alignment with the specific requirements of their occupations. These examinations also aim to verify that workers are not adversely affected by occupational exposures. Each medical examination is tailored to the exact specifications and individual risk profiles of the employees.

Specific Evaluations

- Confined spaces entry evaluations
- Food worker evaluations
- Driver and operating medicals
- Working at heights
